WASHINGTON NEWS.

How the River and Harbor Bill Veto Was Treated.

NEWELL, OF TEXAS PACIFIC LAND GRANT FAME, SQUELCHED.

Damaging Testimony Brought Out by the Star Route Trial Against Defense—General Political Notes.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—When the veto message was received Tuesday there was general feeling of indignation among members of the house, and the commerce committee, which originated the measure, had a meeting at night and determined, if possible, to pass the bill over the veto. Individual members of the committee were assigned to urge upon representatives the necessity for passage of the bill, and were authorized to say that no other measure for the improvement of rivers and harbors would be reported. It was reported at the capitol, before the house met, that the president had urged upon representatives and senators who called at the White House early in the day the necessity for sustaining the veto, and efforts were made to induce Page, chairman of the commerce committee, to postpone calling up the bill until one o'clock in the afternoon. Suspecting that this delay was for the purpose of running up votes against the bill and feeling confident that the chances for its passage over the veto would decrease as time passed, Mr. Page called the bill up, and as soon as he could, obtained recognition from the speaker for that purpose. The exertions of Page in the house were warmly seconded by Jones, of Nevada, the president's bosom friend, in the senate. Mr. Jones earnestly advised the president not to veto the bill. He is reported to have told the president that the veto of the river and harbor bill would certainly cost the republican party the Pacific slope states as that section had large interests in the bill, and it could not endorse two vetoes—one of them the veto of the Chinese bill—in a single session of congress without planting the democratic party in power. Jones is also said to have informed the president that to veto the river and harbor bill, for no other reason than that in his (Arthur's) judgment, congress had exercised an unwise discretion in making appropriations for public works, would be unconstitutional. The senator from Nevada was in the chair when the senate met and he worked like a beaver to secure votes and arrange pairs that would insure a two-thirds majority for the bill. Senators Miller, Farley, Grover and Slater drummed up all the votes they could muster, this slope being deeply interested in the appropriations for the Sacramento river and improvements in Oregon. The senators representing the states embracing the Mississippi river were all unusually active in behalf of the bill. Representative Page, who did more than any other member to secure the passage of the bill in the house, gave your correspondent this afternoon an argument that was used with great force in support of the measure. Page said the engineer corps reported to congress that $37,000,000 could profitably be expended for the improvement of rivers and harbors during the present fiscal year. The committee on commerce reported a bill appropriating in round numbers $17,000,000. Last year the river and harbor appropriation amounted to $11,500,000. The only money appropriation for the Potomac flats in this bill was $600,000. One third of the money appropriated in this bill was for the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, and one-half of it was for improvement on the Mississippi and its navigable tributaries. The large appropriation for the Mississippi and Missouri was based upon recommendations of the president in his special message. Exclusive of their tributaries, these two streams absorb $6,000,000 of the amount voted in the bill. Heretofore appropriations for the Pacific slope have been very small. This year they are liberal. Three-fourths of the members of the house came before the committee urging appropriations for their respective districts, but we endeavored to frame the measure so that it would give justice to every section. If carefully analyzed, I think the bill will bear favorable comparison with any river and harbor bill ever passed by congress. Representatives Page, Rosecrans and George voted for the bill. Berry was paired, and Cassidy, of Nevada, voted in its favor.

The Vote Analyzed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The analysis of the vote on passing the river and harbor appropriation bill over the veto shows 71 republicans, 47 democrats and 6 greenbackers voting in the affirmative, and 23 republicans, 29 democrats and 1 greenbacker voting in the negative. Comparing this vote with that cast on last Wednesday on the question of agreeing to the amendments to the bill, it can be seen from whence the additional support necessary to pass the bill by a two-thirds vote was drawn. On that vote of 113 yeas to 82 nays the opposition lost 18 votes. Of 82 members who on Wednesday voted in the negative there were 21 who were not recorded as having voted, being either absent or paired, namely, Messrs. Armfield, Atherton, Berry, Carlyle, Cassidy, Cutts, Dwight, Hardenburg, Knott, Mattison, McKenzie, Morey, Morrison, Morse, Moulton, Murch, Prescott, Scoville, Schultz, Skinner, Steele, Van Voorhees, Walworth and West, and eleven who voted on Wednesday last against agreeing to the Senate amendments voted to pass the bill over the veto, namely:

Messrs. J. C. Burroughs, Clements, Davis, Hatch, House, McMullen, Mills, John B. Rice, Ritchie, Simonton and Taylor. In addition to these accessions from the opposition the bill received the votes of eleven members who did not vote on Wednesday last, viz.: Messrs. Atkins, Bingham, Blackburn, Bliss, Bowman, Cannon, Crapo, Deuster, Tibble, Dibrell, Guenther, Hammond, Henry, S. Harris, Mackey, Phelps, T. M. Rice, Spaulding, Tucker, Chas. G. Williams and Wilson, while it cast votes which were the last to agree to senate amendments, but which are not recorded now, as follows: Messrs. Bisbee, Casewell, Chace, Covington, Crowley, Darrah, Dowd, Hauk, Kelly, Martin, Moore, Muldrow, Neal, Pacheco, Pettibone, Russell, D. C. Smith, J. H. Smith, Valentine and Morgan R. Wise.

Mr. Newell Shut Off.

At yesterday's meeting of the judiciary committee when Newell applied to be heard, representative Townshend, of Illinois, moved that J. B. Newell be permitted to submit a statement which he desired to make, showing his reasons why the grant of the Texas Pacific road should be forfeited, and in explanation of charges made by him that the grant was obtained by fraud and is consequently void. Robinson, of Massachusetts, moved to postpone the hearing indefinitely and the latter motion was adopted. Ayes, Read, Robinson, Norcross, Taylor, Payson, McCoid and Hammond, 7; nays, Knott, Culberson, Townshend, Manning and Converse, 5.

Washington Notes.

The decree in the Lewis will case has been signed by Judge Nixon, of New Jersey. The amount to be applied to the national debt is $908,589. This will be done by cancelling bonds or assigning them to the secretary of the treasury.

Indications point to adjournment on Saturday or Monday. Speaker Keifer says the house will be ready by Saturday. It is not probable the senate will be ready before Monday.

IOLA (Kansas), Aug. 3.—The greenback convention of the second district of this state to-day renominated Col. M. A. Finlaulum for congress. Allen Williams was nominated as candidate at large.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3.—The democrats of the sixth district today nominated Oliver Wilborn for congress, after a bitter contest during which the friends of Col. W. L. Crawford withdrew from the convention.

The republicans of the Olney district, in Illinois, nominated E. B. Green for congress.

The substance of the voluminous correspondence with Secretary Folger, Edwards Pierrepont, special government counsel, and the attorney general on the subject of suits against Tilden to recover the income tax of the latter, the conclusion reached is that it is within the discretion of government counsel of New York courts to decide whether or not the case should be dismissed.

The Guatemalan Minister Resigns.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The World has this: It was reported yesterday that Lorenzo Montufar, minister to the United States from Guatemala, had sent his resignation to Secretary of State Frelinghuysen. Montufar's reasons for resigning are said to be his disagreement with the foreign and domestic policy of President Barrios. It is understood Montufar will not go back to Guatemala, since he would not be safe there under the rule of the man he has offended by resigning.

Land Decision.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The secretary of interior has made a decision sustaining the claims of military authorities as to the eastern boundary line of the presidio military reservation within the limits of the Pueblo lands of San Francisco. In one respect this decision will necessitate a change in the eastern boundary of said reservation as recently surveyed by Mr. G. F. Allard. The decision of the secretary reverses one made by the commissioner of the general land office.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.

After the message was received from the house informing the senate of the action of that body in passing the river and harbor bill over the president's veto, pending business was suspended and the veto message read. A vote was immediately taken upon the question shall the bill pass, the objections of the president to the contrary notwithstanding. The result was yeas 41, nays 16. So the bill passed. Following is the vote in detail:

Yeas—Aldrich, Anderson, Anthony, Brown, Butler, Call, Camden, Cameron, (of Wis.) Cockrell, Coke, Conger, Davis, (of W. Va.) Dawes, Farley, Ferry, George, Gorman, Grover, Hampton, Hoar, Jackson, Jones, (of Louisiana), (of Fla.) Jones, (of Nevada), Kellogg, McGill, McMillan, Maxey, Miller, (of Cal.) Miller, (of N. Y.) Pugh, Ransom, Saunders, Sawyer, Sherman, Slater, Vest, Voorhees, Walker, Williams and Windom—41.

Nays—Bayard, Blair, Cameron, (of Pa.) Davis, (of Ill.) Frye, Hale, Harrison, Hawley, Ingalls, Logan, Morrill, Pendleton, Platt, Rollins, Saulsbury and Van Wyck—16.

Chilcott, Harris, Plumb, Latham and Beck, who announced they would vote "no," paired with Groome, Johnston, Fair, Lamar and Hill of Georgia respectively, who were absent. Garland, in the affirmative, was paired with Edmunds in the negative, and both were absent. Vance was paired with Mitchell, absent, and Sewell was also paired after a vote was announced. Lapham, who responded no, exclaimed he had overlooked the fact he had paired and withdrew his vote, and Van Wyck, Pendleton and Saulsbury, whose responses had not been recorded, voted in the negative. This made the result as above stated.

The sundry civil bill was proceeded with, and Sherman, from the library committee, reported an appropriation of $8000 for purchase of supreme court records and briefs belonging to the estate of the late Senator Carpenter. Adopted.

Hoar, from the same committee, reported an appropriation of $35,000 for purchase of manuscript papers of Ben Franklin and books, etc., of the Franklin collection, which belong to Henry Stevens, of London. Agreed to.

Voorhees, from the same committee, reported an item of $20,000 for the military maps of Count De Rochambeau, dating from 1780 to 1794. These included the period during which the count commanded French troops co-operating with Americans in the revolution, and these related to the conduct of the war, and very few of them had been published. Agreed to.

Allison, from the appropriation committee, reported an item appropriating $200,000 to meet the extra expenditure made necessary by the bill reorganizing the letter-carrier system and providing for promotion from the $800 to $1000 grade. Agreed to.

The amendment prevailed empowering the governor of Utah to appoint officers to fill vacancies in the territory caused by failures to elect successors to present incumbents.

Ferry offered an amendment authorizing the use of letter sheet envelopes on which the postage stamps now in use on ordinary envelopes shall be placed and making available for their purchase the appropriation for the manufacture of stamps, envelopes, etc.; agreed to.

An additional $60,000, making the total $310,000, was voted the signal service which is now making three daily weather reports.

Anthony moved to insert in the item to pay for printing the report and proceedings in the Congressional Record the words as delivered and nothing else; agreed to.

A large number of proposed amendments were ruled out upon points of order.

On motion of Plumb $20,000 of the appropriation for geological survey was allowed to the bureau to procure statistics in relation to mines and mining and in making chemical analysis of iron, coke and oil.

Logan proposed an amendment directing the architect of the treasury department to report at the next session the site and plans for a hall of records building; agreed to.

Upon the bill being reported to senate the amendments were concurred in with the exception of those upon which special votes were proposed.

Hoar's amendment authorizing the appointment of Utah officials by the governor of that territory was amended on motion of Brown so as to limit the tenure of office appointees to eight months.

After trouble with Conger senate adjourned.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.

After two o'clock senate voted to take up the reduction bill, but Morrill held the floor on the pleuro-pneumonia bill.

Allison remarked it was not possible to adjourn this week.

The commerce committee reported without amendment the house bill to provide for deductions from gross tonnage of vessels of the United States. It amends section 4153 of the revised statutes by allowing deductions for the crew not to exceed five per cent. gross tonnage. In steam vessels spaces for machinery will also be deducted and special allowances made for paddle wheel and screw steamers, but the deductions cannot exceed 50 per cent. of the gross total. Remeasuring foreign vessels in foreign ports will be discontinued when a like rule is adopted abroad as to American vessels. The secretary of the treasury is promulgating a proper scale of fees for remeasurement of spaces on the basis of section 4186 of the revised statutes.

Frye said he thanked the committee for this bill, the first gun fired in favor of American commerce. It was welcome music to his ears; the bill passed.

Windom, from committee on foreign relations, reported with amendments house bill to amend section 4400 of article 52 of the revised statutes concerning regulation of U. S. vessels. He explained its purpose was to extend to foreign steam vessels the provisions of the inspection laws now applicable to domestic vessels concerning freight and combustible matter to be carried. It provides for the appointment of inspectors for this purpose.

Ferry said the bill was the second gun from the commerce committee.

Sherman said some time since he prepared an amendment relieving American vessels engaged in the foreign trade from local taxation. He noticed the opportunity of the present amendment, but was prepared to demonstrate its propriety whenever he could do so and believed it would in five years secure to the United States one-third or one-half of the ocean carrying trade.

Miller of California hoped the proposition would be offered immediately and incorporated in the pending bill.

Objection was made, and after further discussion the committee's amendments were agreed to and the bill passed.

A new conference was ordered on the Japanese indemnity bill.

Morrill (at 2 o'clock) moved to postpone the pending order and take up the knit goods bill. This was vigorously objected to on the democratic side on the ground that any action concerning taxation should be general and not special.

Beck protested against the motion as ignoring the general relief proposed by the tax reduction bill in order that a particular interest might be benefited, even by increase of taxation.

Aldrich asserted that the statement several times repeated in debate, that the republican side had abandoned any effort to legislate for the reduction of taxes, was entirely erroneous. He hoped the bill on that subject would now be proceeded with.

Hawley pictured the deplorable business position of knit goods manufactures at this time and asserted their condition was equally as pitiable and appalling as was that of sufferers from the recent floods and conflagrations in the western section of the country. Bankruptcy threaten them, and to them the question recalls one, not of free trade or taxation, but of mercy and humanity. The pockets of his people opened wide where calamities befall constituents of other members and he appealed to those members not to raise technicalities when some of the best people of New England were on the verge of financial ruin, from a cause for which they are in no respect to blame, but to agree that the knit goods bill should be acted upon before the close of the session.

Morrill modified his motion to provide that the tax reduction bill be taken up, and upon this being agreed to without objection, yielded the floor to Williams, who called up the bill to prevent the spread of pleuro-pneumonia in cattle.

Ingalls argued the bill was defective in matter of detail and suggested modifications, and Williams said he believed if the Lord's prayer were under consideration, senator from Kansas would move an amendment.

Ingalls preferred to consider the bill rather than the Lord's prayer and resumed his criticism. The bill was finally postponed until to-morrow by a vote of 27 to 22. This vote is regarded as equivalent to postponing the bill until next winter.

Allison, from conference committee upon the legislative appropriation bill, reported agreement and the report was adopted.

The tax reduction bill was finally proceeded with, and Morrill submitted a proposition to the democratic side that the bill be passed as it came from the house with senate amendment extending the time at which reductions shall take effect and amendments reducing the tax on snuff and tobacco.

House.

A resolution was adopted providing for formal adjournment on Saturday next.

The committee on conference of the general deficiency bill, reported disagreement upon mileage to senators for attendance at the extra session of October last, and further conference was ordered.

Haskell, of Kansas, submitted a conference report on senate bill for the sale of a portion of the Omaha Indian reservation in Nebraska. Agreed to.

Bills were passed providing that bids in the war department be accompanied by guarantees for the establishment of diplomatic relations with Persia and authorizing the appointment of a consul general to that country, with an annual salary of $5000.

The chairman of the committee on judiciary was granted permission to file a report of the committee relative to the Texas Pacific land grants, and to have the accompanying resolution placed on the calendar.

THE WAR IN EGYPT.

Joint Occupation of Suez Canal Wanted by the Powers.

BRITISH OUTPOSTS DRIVEN IN BY ARABI'S CAVALRY.

An Attack in Force upon Alexandria Momentarily Expected—Turkey Sending Troops to Egypt.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 3.—The British embassador has sent another note to the porte, insisting on the issuance of a proclamation declaring Arabi Pasha a rebel, and stating that otherwise the use of Turkish troops in Egypt cannot take place. He still hopes the proclamation will be made before or on the arrival of Turkish troops in Egypt. War vessels with arms and ammunition and 10,000 troops will leave Thursday or Friday for Egypt. At the sitting of the conference was Onou, Russian representative, and Saïd Pasha, the Turkish delegate, made a declaration in behalf of their respective governments. Lord Dufferin explained England's action at Alexandria. He said the forts had been destroyed solely as a matter of defense, and the steps which followed had been imposed by necessity. England's sole object was to restore peace and order; to secure free navigation of the Suez canal, and restore the authority of the khedive. While reserving liberty of action, events might render it necessary for England to accept the co-operation of any power ready to give it. Lord Dufferin added: "We also accept the sultan's friendly aid, and we are glad to be relieved of the uncertainty regarding the sultan's real intentions, caused by the decoration being bestowed upon Arabi Pasha. We still require that a proclamation be issued supporting the authority of the khedive and declaring Arabi Pasha a rebel."

Ottoman plenipotentiaries made the following declaration. "We have taken a list of the communications of Lord Dufferin and each member of the conference regarding the point that England is obliged to maintain troops in Egypt in consequence of inaction of the porte. The Ottoman representatives are of opinion that action on the part of the sultan would be more practical and efficacious than action by England. The assertion of inaction on the part of the porte is unfounded, as, after presentation of the identical note, the porte agreed to take part in the conference and dispatch troops to Egypt. Secondly, the porte's dispatch of troops to Egypt was based upon the tenor of the identical note and satisfied the powers, but the attitude adopted by England in subordinating her acceptance of the arrival and co-operation of Turkish troops to the proclamation of Arabi Pasha as a rebel is not in accordance with the satisfaction expressed by the powers. Thirdly, the porte never declined to apply to the powers to maintain a statu quo, which was proved by Turkey's accepting the conditions of the identical note relating to the future of Egypt. Fourth regarding the issue of a proclamation declaring Arabi Pasha a rebel, the porte hopes the conference will approve of the proclamation being issued simultaneously with the presence of Ottoman troops in Egypt, in order to obtain an efficacious, practical result whenever disorders require the adoption of rigorous measures. As the proclamation is to explain the situation and to impeach a subject of the sultan who was decorated at a moment when he manifested fidelity, it must derive its force by the co-operation of imperial troops, whose absence at its promulgation would render the provisions of the proclamation barren of results and aggravate the present state of things. The conference will recognize in the porte a sincere desire to restore order and establish a legal understanding with the powers.

Mussulman trades people in Stamboul attach labels bearing Arabi Pasha's name to their goods. Articles thus treated sell readily.

It is stated that Russia rejoined the conference on account of the assuring explanations given by England. A Russian circular, announcing the withdrawal of Russia from the conference, states that as soon as England took action apart from the conference, Russia decided to withdraw from the conference. Onou, the Russian representative, in announcing this decision of his government, expressed such friendly sentiments toward the porte that Dufferin was enabled to ask Onou to display them by remaining rather than quitting the conference.

Collective Action Agreed Upon.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 3.—At the sitting of the conference yesterday, Count Corti, Italian ambassador, introduced a proposal formulated by Italy, in regard to collective action concerning the Suez canal. The representatives of Germany, Austria and Turkey immediately signified their adhesion to the proposal, but the English and French ambassadors, respectively, declined. They must consult their governments before coming to a decision.

Parliamentary Proceedings.

LONDON, August 3.—In the commons to-day, Sir Arthur D. Hayter, minor lord of the treasury said that the government was without official information concerning the alleged misconduct of the company of the 16th rifles guarding the coast on the fresh water canal, but according to private advices the foremost picket consisting of a corporal and six men was attacked by 100 Bedouins in the middle of the night. The picket retired, firing as it withdrew. There is no doubt that the corporal and his men did their duty and did it according to instructions. The manner in which reserves are answering the call summoning them is considered most satisfactory. To-day is the last day for joining their colors. It is believed that over ten thousand men will join.

The English Troubled.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 3.—English soldiers are much overworked. The deficiency of officers is especially felt. Telegraphic communication between the khedive and Arabi Pasha is restored. Grave doubts are entertained regarding the trustworthiness of an interpreter, which the English are forced to employ for the lack of a better. When the forces move forward the English will be at the mercy of these men, as through them the rebel authorities can obtain information.

Russia's Position.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 3.—An official statement is published that Russia endorses the Anglo-French naval demonstration in Egyptian waters, but on the contrary she declares that although not wishing to oppose she would never encourage isolated action. This continues to be the standpoint of Russia, who aims to induce Great Britain to join this programme and continue her action with that of the porte on the basis of the decisions of the conference.

Returning to Arabi.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 2.—The return of Arabi's deputation to the enemie's lines took place to-day. It was purely a railway expedition sent to the front with Reouf Pasha, two ulemas and a Cairo merchant with eight native servants, loaded with sacks and bedding. Several English correspondents accompanied the party. Near Ramleh the train turned sharply to the right toward the enemie's lines, at a bridge over the old Mahmoudieh canal, where there is an outpost of the 60th rifles. A halt was made to remove a sand bag laid across the track and the correspondents left the train which then crossed over the canal toward Mallallak junction. In the distance was seen Arabi's train from Cairo waiting, about 12,000 yards beyond the junction, to take up our native passengers. We could not make out the position of the camp, which bore ominously upon the line of railroad, but all seemed dead at the junction itself. When the train from Alexandria had advanced within 2000 yards of the Cairo train, there was a great clambering on the railway and Reouf Pasha was seen trudging towards his countrymen.

British Outposts Driven Back.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—An official telegram from Alexandria says the left front of the picket guard was driven in by Arabi Pasha's cavalry Wednesday morning. The picket maintained its position, 80 yards in the rear of the original post, firing furiously. Arabi's cavalry finally withdrew and the post was reoccupied. No casualties occurred.

General War Notes.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 3.—It is persistently rumored that Arabi Pasha intends to attack Alexandria with a large force under Toulba Pasha.

Admiral Seymour visited the Meks forts to-day. He went on Lake Mareotes and observed Bedouins intrenching in the distance.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—An Alexandria dispatch with reference to the British troops Wednesday morning, says the enemy came up stealthily towards the picket lines under the thick cover of the mist, which prevented their being seen, while their horses' foot-falls were deadened by the deep sand. The skirmish has had the effect of checking Bedouin looters. The enemy's real position is six miles away from the British line. He is still entrenching.

RAMLEH, Aug. 3.—The 46th regiment moved to the front to-day.

Arabi's troops are showing signs of activity. The naval contingent and mounted infantry have been reinforced.

FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 4, 1882.

WOULD THEY BETTER IT?

Senator Pendleton has been making more speeches in behalf of civil service reform. In the main they are of good quality. He arraigns and denounces Hubbell and Hubbellism in excellent style. In setting forth the evils of a partisan civil service he does not overdraw the picture. His argument is lame only when he expects it to convince the country that the democratic party would eschew the practices of republican partisans and free the civil service from all the evils with which corrupting and indefensible methods of partisanship have surrounded it.

To the remarks we presented some days ago on Senator Pendleton's speeches on this subject several democratic newspapers have retorted that we could see nothing good in them because the senator is a democrat. This is a great error. We see much that is good in them. They go far in the excellent work of exposing abuses which our people must find a way to eradicate, if they would prevent their government from falling into the pit of hopeless demoralization and corruption. It is impossible to exaggerate the immorality of the spoils system. Its worst consequences are not seen in particular instances of wrong and outrage, but in the low tone of political life which it introduces into the government and spreads abroad among the people. Under its influence the moral standards of public life have been falling for many years below those required in private life, so that it is regarded as a less offense to cheat the whole people than to cheat any one of them. Many pure and noble minds stand aloof from politics as something disreputable and contaminating, so that it is more and more becoming a matter of congratulation when young men refuse to have anything to do with political life and enter upon private careers;—that is to say, a matter of congratulation to them, though not to the country, which certainly needs the services of those who have good purposes and high aims.

On this subject, we repeat, Senator Pendleton has talked well. Nobody better. But what he says is rendered nugatory by the attitude of his party. No one supposes that his party could be trusted to carry out the doctrines he has so ably and clearly set forth. We find the Cincinnati Enquirer, the great democratic organ of Mr. Pendleton's state, saying in its issue of July 21, that Mr. Pendleton, who had just visited his home, had thereby obtained the benefit of the first opportunity he had enjoyed in several months of coming "in direct communication with the democrats of Ohio." and that "the abundance of information he acquired must have been oppressive." It proceeds to say that "he must have found that the civil service regulation he proposes, under which republicans are to have the same rights to office as democrats under democratic administration, does not meet with favor among his constituents," and finally, that "it is time for him to change his course and sail with the people to whom he is indebted for the many honors which have been bestowed on him."

The criticism, then, lies against Mr. Pendleton's party rather than against himself, except in so far as he would have the country believe that civil service reform is a party question and that it needs only the substitution of the democratic for the republican party in control of the government to assure a discontinuance of political assessments, establish competitive examinations and permanent tenure of all except political offices without regard to party affiliations, and otherwise thoroughly cut up the roots of the spoils system and purify political life. Mr. Pendleton knows that this would not be the result of the accession of his party to power, and his palpable duplicity on this important point weakens the force of his otherwise excellent speeches on the merits of the question.

They who look at this subject from a rational point of view see clearly that the correction of civil service abuses can never be expected from a mere change of party control over the government. Mr. Pendleton is absurd when he asks the country to believe that the success of his party in the next presidential election would leave undisturbed all the faithful, experienced and efficient employes of the government, and remove only those who should prove under the new regime to be unfit to perform the duties of the places they had been holding. How would such doctrine, if proclaimed by the party chiefs and credited by the rank and file of the party, strike the average democratic politician? How would the democrats of Mr. Pendleton's own state receive it after having struggled for more than twenty years to get at the public crib? Suppose Mr. Pendleton were elected to the presidency, is he the man who would proclaim after the election that the policy of rewards for party services had been abandoned? And what kind of life would he lead under such conditions, with at least 1,000,000 men of his party howling for 100,000 offices? The situation would be simply reversed as to parties, if the democrats were in control and the republicans in the minority, with the difference, judging from past experience, that the democratic assessment would be more exacting and imperative than the republican assessment has ever been, and that resistance to it would be followed by surer and swifter punishment. Reform of the civil service is not to be expected from party; it must come from the people without regard to party;—but there is a larger sentiment in favor of it among republicans than among democrats. Among republicans there are those who set up unceasing protests against the abuses which they see their own party committing. Would any considerable body of democrats, if their party were in power, regard these things as abuses at all? A few indeed might; but the great body of the party would rush with eager avarice to the application of the favorite democratic doctrine of the olden time, "To the victors belong the spoils."

In many democratic papers we have been reading of late many fine essays in denunciation of the spoils system as practised by the republicans at the national capital and throughout the country. All these denunciations, as well as the objurgations heaped upon Hubbell and others, are well deserved. It is gratifying, too, to note that the objectionable practices and their authors are denounced by republicans as well as by democrats. But are our brethren of the democratic press prepared to assure the country that in case their party is voted into power it will not assess officeholders, will make no removals for party reasons, will make no appointments as rewards for partisan services, but will discountenance the spoils system and all its works? And if they make this pledge will the country believe them sincere? Hardly; for they will not believe it themselves. We hope, indeed, that our brethren of the democratic press will go on with their discussion of this subject. But they cannot do it with effect so long as their utterances are wanting in candor and are manifestly pitched in the tone of the Pharisee.

The ninety days' grace after the passage of the Chinese restriction bill expires to-day, and no Chinaman who cannot show a passport will be allowed to land hereafter. A sea tramp, loaded with coolies, which left Hongkong for San Francisco some time ago, expecting to make the passage before the bill went into effect, has not yet arrived. She will be sent north to British Columbia with her cargo.

It is among the possibilities that the Turkish troops when they arrive in Egypt will take sides with the Egyptian people and join the standard of Arabi Bey. And further, it is [illegible] that the trouble will end [illegible]

CROWDING OUT THE BOYS.

The Chicago Tribune has been publishing a number of articles showing the difficulties now in the way of boys who want to learn trades, arising partly from the breaking up of the old apprentice system and partly from the hostility of the trades-unions. The same complaint comes from all parts of the country. The New York Herald publishes a letter from a boy of that city who wants to learn steam engineering, but who has been refused at every machine shop where he has applied save one, and there he was offered a chance to earn $6 a week after he had spent five years in the shop. The Herald also publishes a letter showing, by reference to the steady increase of wages, in spite of the immigration of skilled foreign mechanics, how silly is the fear that impels trades-unions to insist that no employing mechanic shall have more than two or three apprentices. The conclusion of the Herald is, that the only chance for a boy who wants to learn a trade seems to be to go west, or into some rural region of the middle states, and seek an instructor in a town too small to be managed by trades-unions, and where labor is so scarce that any person of intelligence and energy is estimated at his full value.

We fear this is a mistaken view of the situation in many, perhaps most towns of the west. There are few of them, however small, in which this same opposition to the wish of boys to learn trades is not manifested in some form at one time or another. Misled by the shortsighted argument that wages would be cut down if the boys were permitted to learn trades, fathers have been known to join in closing the door to a life of self-supporting industry against their own sons. Hence the complaint that American boys are growing up as poorly paid clerks, shabby-genteel dependents, or vicious hoodlums, is becoming very general. Workingmen, especially those who are fathers, can find nothing more worthy of their thoughtful consideration than this: What man of you, it was asked, if his son demanded bread, will give him a stone? As unnatural is that father who gives his son life, if he withhold from him the opportunity of learning how to earn means to live.

ALASKA.

It is a reproach to the present congress that nothing has been done during the long session now about to close toward the establishment of a government for Alaska. The lack of law in that isolated territory is deplorable and wholly without excuse. There is no security for property rights there, while life even has only the protection of individual might. These facts have been fully and fairly presented to congress, but the protests of a few professional politicians, who fear the chances of a rearrangement of affairs, have been more heeded than the appeals of property interests and the people, and so the matter has been allowed to drift. Besides, in the present lack of system, the annual cost of Alaska to the general government is greater than the most elaborate plan of territorial organization yet proposed could be. A single murder trial before the United States court in Portland costs more, in its direct and indirect fees, than would a full territorial government for half a year, while the charges of a constant and useless naval parade run the bill up to an unreasonable amount. Alaska is rich in resources. It has fish, timber and mines which will yield millions of dollars some time in the future, and its general trade, even now important, is capable of very great and profitable expansion. But there can be no growth worthy of the term till there is law and protection of property. The United States owes to the people of Alaska the establishment of common security. Congress ought to grant it.

The San Francisco Journal of Commerce presents a statement, compiled "from hundreds of sources," showing the wheat crop of the present year. The total acreage, it says, is 3,249,030, and the total yield 29,590,500 centals. This is equal to 49,317,500, or almost 50,000,000 bushels. It is the greatest crop ever raised in the state outside of 1880. The surplus for export is about 22,690,000 centals, or 1,134,500 tons. The Journal adds to this statement: "It is well known that early in the year from the dryness of the season, it was feared that we would not have any crop; but subsequent bountiful rains came just in time. Then, fears for the San Joaquin valley came along and it was thought the wheat crop there would be a failure. Results, however, belie expectations. The harvest is turning out finely in most of the valley, and places are now yielding more than double what they were expected to produce a month ago. From every part of the state comes the same story—yields exceeding the most sanguine expectations. We lay the figures before our readers in the confident expectation that they will prove correct." The California wheat crop for 1879 was 19,601,000 centals; for 1880, 34,150,000 centals, and for 1881, 27,102,000, centals.

"Knights of Labor" is the name of an association which proposes to reorganize the relations of capital and labor. The principal reforms desired are "the abrogation of all laws that do not bear equally upon capital and labor; the substitution of arbitration for strikes; the prohibition of child labor; to secure for both sexes equal pay for equal work; the reduction of the hours of labor to eight per day, so that the laborers may have more time for social enjoyment and intellectual improvement, and be enabled to reap the advantages conferred by the labor-saving machinery which their brains have created; to prevail upon governments to establish a purely national circulating medium, issued directly to the people, without the intervention of any system of banking corporations, which money shall be a legal tender in payment of all debts, public or private; the establishment of co-operative institutions, productive and distributive; the reserving of the public lands—the heritage of the people—for the actual settler. Not another acre for railroads or corporations."

Completion of the Northern Pacific line will give the Columbia river salmon, fresh as it comes from the water, access to the great markets of Chicago, Philadelphia and New York. It is proposed to run a daily train of five or more refrigerator cars on passenger schedule for this special purpose. Now, salmon far inferior to the "Chinook" is sold in New York at fifty cents per pound, and even at that price is rare. Columbia river salmon can be put on the New York market at prices which will make it common food for the middle classes and create a great general demand for it. And it would not be necessary for the salmon freight to pay for the return passage of the refrigerator cars, which would carry beer, oysters, etc. It is to be hoped that the salmon will not be exterminated before the best markets for it are opened.

The river and harbor bill, passed over the president's veto, appropriates nearly $20,000,000. Large part of this vast sum is bestowed on creeks, sloughs and ponds whose very names have never been heard of beyond their own vicinage. Many of them are without commerce and almost without water. What with cutting down taxes on the one hand and throwing money away in this fashion on the other, the national debt is likely to become a fixed and permanent quantity.

CITY.

[illegible] VAGS.—About one o'clock this morning a [illegible] scene ensued all the way from First and Alder [illegible] city jail. Several policemen were in waiting [illegible] a quartet of the toughest kind of toughs [illegible] have been roaming about the back streets all [illegible] of the night, ready for any depredation [illegible] and were posted [illegible] movements from time to time, and were noted [illegible] of the law. The vags were soon [illegible] and took a course for flight. Three [illegible] police whistles and a pistol shot [illegible] of the officers. Henry Bacon [illegible] by one of the officers. Henry Bacon [illegible] recently by Hickory Johnson, ran [illegible] to Stark, out Stark to the cathedral [illegible] was captured by policeman Barry after a [illegible] Gus Garwood, an exact image of Bacon [illegible] and out Burnside, ran out Alder to Third [illegible] and on Third, near Oak, and secreted [illegible] a yard on Third, near Oak, and secreted [illegible] under the front porch, whence he was [illegible] by the heels by policeman James. [illegible] in the city jail. Bacon carries an [illegible] knife, the blade open, inside of his [illegible]. Considerable excitement was caused by [illegible] the whistles and the shot, and many [illegible] down town arose, dressed and came out [illegible] the cause. It may be news to many readers [illegible] that Portland is infested with a considerable [illegible] of vicious vags, who would not hesitate to [illegible] less than murder. Until they do any [illegible], no graver charge than vagrancy can [illegible] against them. Hence the police are [illegible] unable to rid the city of their nuisance. [illegible] Honest persons whose business calls [illegible] after midnight will be safer with those [illegible] easy reach.

ABOUT BASE BALL.—The Clippers [illegible] still feel sore over their defeat by the [illegible] and brag about what they can do [illegible]. The case stands like this: The [illegible] them to a series of games to decide [illegible], best two out of three. The Stars [illegible] games and the vexed question is [illegible]. If the Clippers want to play again [illegible] the Stars, and without doubt, it [illegible]. The Clippers made a bluff about [illegible] for $250 a side, but when the Stars [illegible] the former club backed down. [illegible] proposition to get up a big game [illegible] that it would be for money, and [illegible] any. This was not accepted by [illegible] a recent statement in the Ore[illegible] that the Stars proposed to play a [illegible] to take three-fourths of the re[illegible] mistake. Individual members of [illegible] they would be willing to play such [illegible] submitting the matter to the club [illegible]. The Stars have no wish to chal[illegible] again as there is no honor in [illegible]. On the 19th the Stars go to Walla [illegible] series of games at the latter place.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Dick Baker was [illegible] Justice Bushwiler yesterday, hav[illegible] on suspicion of complicity in an [illegible] highway robbery, which occurred last [illegible] on Third street between C and D. [illegible] attempt was George Teffertelier, [illegible] came to this city about a week ago [illegible]. He was returning to his lodg[illegible] lower end of the city, when he was [illegible], and, before he was aware of [illegible] knocked down. He had "no money [illegible] and" when his assailants learned [illegible] beat and kicked him. Upon leav[illegible]. Teffertelier made com[illegible] Bushwiler, which caused the [illegible]. LAKE COUNTY NOTES.

(FROM THE OREGONIAN'S REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.)

LAKEVIEW, Or., July 28.

Hay is abundant and selling at five dollars in the field.

The Goose lake steamer remains at her winter moorings and there is no prospect of her leaving.

A small remnant of a band of Piute "lost" led by [illegible]-a-bone-in-his-nose have located here permanently and act as town scavengers.

We have had a short series of thunder showers lately that have revived the crops that the north winds and sultry weather had turned brown.

The lumber is sawed and the stone quarried for the institute building. The Lakeview cornet band will furnish music and Hon. D. W. Cheesman will orate at the laying of the corner stone.

Last Saturday John Grabag of Warner valley, better known as "Long John," had a leg broken. His team ran away and his leg, which had been broken before, was caught in one of the wheels and twisted around, breaking it below the knee. A physician was called, the fracture reduced and the patient removed to Bidwell.

An attempt will be made to remodel this county at the coming session of the legislature. Over 170 names are signed to a petition for a division cutting off the Klamath basin, Langell and Sprague river valleys for a new county, to be called Klamath county and the residents of Lake county as well as Warner valley want a slice out of Grant county and Warner valley annexed to Lake. The Warner valley settlers are only about forty miles from our county seat and are about 170 from Canyon city, the county seat of Grant.

It costs $10 to swear at a man, but you can hit him over the head with a club, plead guilty, and $5 will satisfy the law. If the tongue is not the mightier, it costs more.

AGAINST CHINESE MILL HANDS.

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR $4,100 TO SALEM WOOLEN MILLS REFUSED.

Four Subscribers Decline to Give Obligations Unless an Anti-Chinese Clause is Inserted in the Notes.

In yesterday's Salem Statesman the [illegible] who obtained subscriptions [illegible] already for the proposed woolen mill at Salem publish the following address:

[illegible]

To the Citizens of Salem: The undersigned [illegible] [illegible] the proposed woolen factory [illegible] as we supposed, sufficient [illegible] Wm. Reid of Portland [illegible] the company [illegible] factory [illegible] following very liberal subscriptions were rejected as being accompanied with conditions, that they could not be made available at any reasonable time:

Breyman Bros	$2,000 00
G. W. Gray	500 00
R. M. Wade & Co	500 00
Dr. Alfred Kinney	1,100 00

This being the case, the amount [illegible] $4,100, must be obtained in some other way before the work will proceed. We have the assurance in writing that the company is ready with plans and [illegible] to commence operations as soon as these conditions are complied with. [illegible] are requested to call upon any of the undersigned.

We regret the necessity of making this statement, but as the public to have the sum required has been obtained [illegible]

In the following card, published in the same issue, Dr. Alfred Kinney explains why he refused to give his note.

DR. KINNEY'S CARD.

The Town Talk of August [illegible] contains a communication addressed "To the Citizens of Salem," in which the undersigned is placed in a false light before the people, and in justice to myself I desire to lay the facts before all whom it may concern. The article to which I refer I understand will appear in the Statesman of this date, signed by the trustees of the woolen mill's subsidy fund.

The subscription paper presented to me had printed at the head a contract. Following is an exact copy:

"For and in consideration of the advantages that will accrue to each of us, subscribers hereto, from the erection of a woolen factory within the corporate limits of the city of Salem, Oregon, as proposed herein, and of the benefits to be derived by this public community therefrom, and for the further consideration of the advantages accruing to each of us from the mutual agreements herein contained of the subscribers hereto;

We, the undersigned, do hereby subscribe and agree to pay to the order of Emanuel Meyer, E. M. Waite and T. B. Wait, as trustees for the receipt of the fund herein provided for, the sums of money hereinafter set opposite our respective signatures, and, if required, to give our promissory notes for the sums indicated. The money hereinafter subscribed is payable to said trustees as follows: One-half when the building for said factory, which is to be of brick and of sufficient capacity for ten sets of woolen machinery, is ready for the reception of machinery, but not earlier than the first day of January, A. D., 1883; the remaining half when eight sets of woolen machinery are set up and ready for operation in said building, but at a date not earlier than June first, A. D., 1883.

No Chinese to be employed.

I signed the above contract and appended the following condition: "Provided no Chinamen are to be employed on the premises within ten years' time." This condition was printed at the close of the contract; but I chose to make sure that it should be regarded.

The trustees, after raising the desired amount of subscriptions, presented to me for my signature two notes, of which the following is an exact copy, except the amount, which was filled in the blank space.

"SALEM, Oregon, June 1882.

On the first day of January, A. D. 1883, without grace, I promise to pay to the order of Emanuel Meyer, E. M. Waite and T. B. Wait, trustees, at the office of Ladd & Bush, bankers, Salem, Oregon, —— dollars, U. S. gold coin, for value received, with interest thereon from maturity until paid, at the rate of nine per cent. per annum, and in case suit is instituted to collect this note or any portion thereof, I promise to pay such additional sum as the court may adjudge reasonable as attorneys' fees in such suit."

These notes I refused to sign unless the conditions on which I subscribed was inserted, or guarantee given to me by the company.

Thereupon the trustees wrote to Mr. Reid, at Portland, Oregon, on the subject and received in reply the following letter:

"PORTLAND, Or., June 2, 1882.

Gentlemen: You have this day presented me for acceptance the subscriptions and guarantees among others of R. M. Wade & Co., Breyman Bros., A. Bush, J. H. Albert, G. W. Gray and Alfred Kinney, for certain sums therein stipulated to be paid by these several gentlemen, which I regret very much to return to you rejected, for reasons that some of their conditions are totally at variance with each other. Some of those gentlemen, for instance, insisting that the woolen mills be erected at North Salem, others at South Salem, and others similar and different conditions.

You will, I trust, see the necessity of all those gentlemen cordially uniting, as all other subscribers have done, upon a joint and common agreement, similar to that already printed, before I can be expected to accept that portion of these gentlemen's subscriptions as part of the subsidy referred to.

WM. REID.

P. S.—Pardon me if I should remark some of them clearly imply that if the mill should stop by some uncalled for cause, or being in operation, cease running for even a short time, their subscriptions would be void. W. R."

The reader will observe that Mr. Reid does not object to the condition of my subscription, but includes it in his list of rejected. Then the trustees addressed him another letter on the point involved and received the following answer:

"PORTLAND, June 3, 1882.

Gentlemen: In answer to your inquiry whether the owners of the proposed woolen mills at Salem, contemplate the employment of Chinamen as mill workers, I beg to say such is not our intention. Indeed we never thought their employment was necessary or even profitable. Our principal stockholder, himself a large cotton and woolen manufacturer in Great Britain, says that if we cannot find qualified and skilled woolen operators on the Pacific coast, he can find them in Scotland and would rather, he says, at his own expense, ship Scotch woolen operatives to Oregon, than attempt to educate Chinamen for the purpose. WILLIAM REID."

The trustees presented the above letter as a guarantee from Mr. Reid that my condition should be complied with, and I beg the reader to read it again and see if he does not agree with me that it is no guarantee at all. He speaks of some "principal stockholder," whose name even he does not give, who, he says, would rather ship Scotch operatives at his own expense than to educate Chinamen for the purpose. In the first place, I do not know his "principal stockholder," nor have I any guarantee that Mr. Reid has any power to bind him in the premises, besides if he were bound, it would be an easy matter for him to find plenty of Chinamen on this coast already "educated" in the business of woolen manufacturing; and, further, I do not know Mr. Reid as the corporation, or as any part of it, and if I did I should not accept such a document as the above letter as any sort of security that he will comply with the contract.

In conclusion, I wish to say, that I subscribed in good faith and am ready to pay as stipulated in the contract, and I object to the publication of any statement to the contrary. Now, let Mr. Reid or some other member of his proposed company come out openly and fairly and tell this people what they propose to do about this matter of employing Chinamen, as many other subscribers to the fund are as deeply interested as I am myself. If the company will agree with the subscribers, as a whole, to the condition I made, there will be no trouble in making up the required amount.

I now leave it with the people of Salem to decide whether or not I am justifiable in refusing to sign the notes. ALFRED KINNEY.

A NOVEL WAY TO PAY DEBTS.

Charles S. Du Bois was recently committed to the county jail for assault and battery by Justice Greene, and afterwards fined ten dollars in the police court for using obscene language, and placed under bonds to keep the peace against the commonwealth, and particularly against W. P. Rathsbury, manager of the Legal and Commercial Agency for attempting to enforce a garnishee process on a judgment against Du Bois.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

How she Looks, Lives and Writes—Her Home.

Boston Herald.

Mrs. Stowe composes with perfect facility, her thoughts flowing so freely and uninterruptedly, and her pen being so obedient to their course that her manuscript always goes to the printers in its first draft. She never goes back to revise or correct, and does not even take the trouble to read over what she has written. Her father was quite different in this respect, for, with his manuscript, he was continually hesitating, scratching out and changing expressions over and over again. Mrs. Stowe has no regular hours devoted to literary labor, but writes when she feels most in the mood. When tired of the pen she relieves herself by taking up palette and brush, having a decided artistic talent, which she exercises principally in flower painting, a love for flowers being one of her passions.

Mrs. Stowe is of medium height, with a slight figure and a thoughtful face, full of refined character, her features combining strength and delicacy in expression. Her gray hair is almost snowy. She dresses with extreme simplicity and in good taste. She has an easy, unassuming way; an air of genuine old New England domesticity which shows that her numerous papers on house and home topics are based on practical experience.

Her regular home is in Hartford, a place endeared to her by the associations of childhood. Her house is on Forest street. It is of brick, with a tastefully plain exterior, painted a light buff, and is surrounded by pleasant grounds. The three celebrated authors who may be said to form a Hartford literary trio, are near neighbors, Mr. Clemens ("Mark Twain") living next door, while Charles Dudley Warner's home is not five minutes away. The interior of Mrs. Stowe's house is unassumingly comfortable. There are many souvenirs of travel and interesting associations, including portraits presented her by distinguished friends gained by her labors for the cause of freedom. On the walls are also many of her own flower paintings, the clustered favorites of her beloved New England fields being side by side with the gorgeous flora of Florida.

Mrs. Stowe and her family live in an atmosphere of perpetual summer, their winters for the past sixteen years having been spent amid the orange groves of Mandarian, her Florida estate on the St. John river. Her picturesque cottage is shaded by the dense foliage of magnificent live oaks, and from the point on which it stands there is an uninterrupted view for miles, both up and down the broad and beautiful river. Notwithstanding her abolition antecedents she and her family have received nothing but kindness from her southern neighbors, although the press, in some instances, have been violent in its assaults. Of the celebration of her seventieth birthday, Mrs. Stowe says that she feels a little embarrassed, since it will be the first birthday she has ever celebrated, she having been brought up in the old-fashioned manner which made no account of birthdays, or of few other sentimental occasions. She never could succeed in remembering when the day came around, and once, having made a number of good resolutions for the occasion, after the manner of many other good people, she found that she had made them on the wrong day.

THE TROUT FISHING LIAR.

San Francisco Chronicle.

"The trout liar," said Captain Herbert, "is the gem of all fishers. He is the saddle-rock liar, a moose among antelopes; Hyperion to a satyr; he is a long-tailed comet among the quiet twinklers. All men cannot be trout liars. The trout liar must be born with a peculiar fitness for the task, and then he must be educated to it and make lies a life work.

"When David said in his haste, 'All men are liars,' Saul and Abinadab, Doeg and Edomite had probably just returned from a trout fish down along the brook in the valley Elah, and were telling what they had seen and what they had done. And David, as he listened to them murdering the unarmed truth, naturally supposed there was no more truth left in the hearts of men in all the wide world.

"The trout liar exceeds all other liars, because the man who has done any amount of trout fishing is to a certain extent, a traveled man. It is his custom to sit on the veranda and tell his stories crushing all competition, and putting his feet on the neck of all ordinary striped bass and land-locked salmon liars. But if it happened that just as he has told his masterpiece, the opposition trout liar comes in with a right bower, a genuine royal flush of a trout lie, the first liar is hurt to the heart; he is dejected and sorrowful and says not another word that night. But he draws new inspiration from defeat, and the very next place he goes to he appropriates the lie that paralyzed him, and unblushingly claiming it as his own, defiantly crushes down all pitiful competition with a crowning lie that only two days before crushed him.

"There are several kinds of trout liars. The liar of weights who never catches more than half a dozen trout, but they each weigh anywhere from eight to ten pounds. Then there is the liar of numbers, who always catches so many dozen in one hour and twenty-eight minutes. And there is the liar of places, who knows hidden places, dark and still, in the secret places of the rocks, that are just boiling over with trout, and he takes you under many oaths of secrecy and by stealthy and circuitous routes to those places and you fish in them for eight mortal hours without a nibble.

"But you can never corner a trout liar. Arithmetic, facts, science, probabilities, precedent, general principles and eternal fitness of things may combine in overwhelming array to prove him the awfullest liar in England or America, it doesn't disturb him. He lies on, calmly, confidently, enthusiastically, always locating the scene of his lies so far away he is pretty certain you will never go there.

"There are limits to human belief," the good doctor said, rising to his feet. "You may believe what the candidate says on the stump; you may believe what a man tells you in a horse trade; you may believe the army liar, and you may believe the snake liar, but when a man takes his cigar from his lips, and with a simple preface of a place and date, starts in on a trout story, bar and bolt and lock and double lock the gates of your belief when he gets to the place. Don't believe a single, solitary trout, not though it weighs less than a pound.

"Under the shadow of the trout, truth dies and the man that fishes four days and only hooks one lone trout, so small that he looses it in his empty basket, comes home the biggest liar of them all."

American Girls' Extravagance.

New York Graphic.

The trouble is, none of our young women are willing to become poor men's wives, professedly, even though they may be so in reality. The girl who marries upon $1000 a year looks forward to a life spent in second rate boarding houses, from which she will squeeze out a certain cheap domesticity and some expensive pleasure. The children which heaven may send are not thought of nor provided for.

It is a question whether the young wife can make herself a dress or provide herself a wholesome meal of victuals. She marries for freedom, to have a good time, to spend money she neither earns nor helps to earn—for heaven knows what—but certainly not to make a comfortable if humble home for her husband.

In this respect we consider the British girl has an immense advantage over the American. From the highest to the lowest circles of society in Britain girls are trained to make good and useful wives, inasmuch as ladies preside over the departments of their household, and see that everything is kept clean and the food is well cooked; so also in the lower classes mothers teach their daughters to do the same for themselves, without suffering any loss of dignity in the doing of it.

Many of our American girls will be surprised to learn that the Princess Louise frequently makes her pastry—and makes it well, too. On one occasion, some apricot tarts of her making being praised by a guest, the royal lady wrote out the recipe, with the words underlined: "If you desire to have an apricot tart well cooked always make it with an upper crust!" The story has a point, and the point is that one can never know how to do a thing too well.

One of the great hindrances against getting a good wife arises from the false basis upon which society is constructed. The idea that equality is the peculiar birthright of all Americans is erroneous. Where every person thinks he or she is as good as the next there is always the positive proof of incompetency. A person is neither better nor worse than another except in the degree of worth which is honestly sought to be attained. But the disposition of young women of the present day (and the same may be said largely of young men, though perhaps not to the same extent) is to think they are as good as any one else without taking the trouble to be so. From this erroneous belief arises many of the evils from which society suffers.

Northwestern Crops.

SIOUX CITY, Aug. 3.—Crop reports from every county in northwestern Iowa, northern Nebraska, southeastern Minnesota and southeastern Dakota, without exception, show that small grain will yield an immense crop. Oats show an especially big crop, wheat a big average, and in good condition, and barley, rye and flax not so favorable. In this county corn comprises ninety per cent. of the grain. This crop, though late, is coming forward rapidly under the influence of favorable weather, and nothing but drought and early and heavy frosts can prevent a good yield. In nearly every quarter of the state there will be a heavy crop.

Illinois Crops.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Crop reports show rain the past few days have improved corn prospects in many portions of the country, and that with favorable weather the general crop of corn will be up to the average. The large increase of acreage in the south will aid much in making up the general [illegible]

POLITICAL.

Civil Service Reform.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Attendance at the national civil service reform association was unusually large. Among the prominent delegates present are Geo. Wm. Curtis, Carl Schurz, Sherman S. Rogers, Silas W. Burt, Chas. Theodore Russell, Bancroft C. Davis and Josiah Quincy, Jr. The general and executive committee held a session with closed doors and after executive session Geo. Wm. Curtis delivered an address which was a severe arraignment of President Arthur for removal of competent officers. Fifty per cent. of the office holders whose terms expired during Arthur's administration have been dismissed. The president's course has been such as to demand some radical reform, and Curtis frequently spoke of the "president's party." Appropriations for civil service reform, and heavy and needless appropriations for other purposes were sarcastically referred to. He hoped every candidate for congress would be obliged to show his hand on civil service reform before election. Conviction, said Curtis, for collection of political assessments referred to show the association was making progress. Jay Hubbell's attempt to collect assessments and the commotion occasioned by his circular were the theme of his discourse, and the tyranny of political assessments, and bulldozing of government employes, with families depending upon them for support, were severely condemned. Civil service reform work in Pennsylvania was referred to and the untarnished record of the party in that state pictured. A reform that could divide the state was a fire that would spread all over the land. The bosses in the Keystone state had been called to a halt. Political history was read to show that no one party was able to stand against the wishes of the masses. When Curtis closed he was honored with an ovation of thanks of the association. Carl Schurz, Harris, Rogers, Vaughn and Cassel were appointed a committee on resolutions, and a recess taken.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 3.—Geo. Wm. Curtis was re-elected president. Resolutions were adopted favoring independent action on the part of persons desiring to promote civil service reform and set forth the probability of securing increased representation in the next congress. It was conceded that the friends of civil service reform in this congress were not as many as in the previous congress. Seventy-five representatives are wanted in the next house favoring the Pendleton bill. The president of the convention was requested to ask the president of the United States to take steps to reform the civil service under the laws now existing, and presidents of the colleges and chiefs of other educational institutions are urged to impress upon students the importance of reform in the civil service system.

Illinois Greenback Convention.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 2.—The greenback labor state convention met this morning and were called to order by Jas. Springer, of Chicago, chairman of the state central committee. C. G. Dixon, of Chicago, was chosen temporary chairman, and Norman H. Moss, of Jackson county, temporary secretary. Roll of districts was then called for, and committees on credentials, resolutions and state central committee appointed. The announcement of Mrs. McBride, of Peoria, as one of the committee on resolutions, was greeted with applause. The committee on organization was instructed to report the names of five members of the state central committee at large, and while committees were out speeches were made by Col. Jesse Harper and H. Martin Williams, of Missouri, who subsequently read a dispatch from Gen. Weaver, who announced that he would be here this evening. A recess was then taken. About 400 people, including ladies, were present in the room. A number of distinguished greenbackers were present.

PEORIA, Aug. 3.—After recess yesterday General James B. Weaver addressed the convention briefly. Daniel McLaughlin, of Will county was nominated for state treasurer by acclamation. The name of Miss Frances E. Willard, of Chicago, was presented as candidate for superintendent of public instruction, but Senator Plumb produced a telegram from her stating that she could not accept the nomination, and her name was withdrawn. Frank H. Hall, of Kane county, was then nominated by acclamation. The resolutions are very long and contain nothing new.

Outside of the platform a resolution was passed to the effect that the scheme of England in endeavoring to absorb and subjugate Egypt, is equally characteristic of England, the Shylock and pirate, and deserves the execration of mankind; that if the United States does not enter an emphatic protest it will be evidence that Shylocks, if not pirates, already control our capitol as well as the British throne; that the attitude of indifference of the United States toward the oppressed Russian nihilists and persecuted Irish is unworthy of this republic and shameful to the United States as a nation, and misrepresents and belies the sentiments of the American people, and would brand us as soulless demagogues, that Arabi Bey is engaged in another and distant field by different methods in fighting bondholders, taxeaters and Shylocks, as well as the forlorn hope of liberty in Europe and that he has the hearty sympathy of this convention.

Iowa Republican Convention.

DES MOINES, Aug. 3.—Before conclusion of the first formal ballot, Pray's nomination for supreme court clerk was made unanimous. For supreme court reporter E. C. Ebersole, of Tama, was nominated on the second ballot.

For state treasurer, E. H. Conger, the present incumbent, was renominated by acclamation.

The resolutions reaffirm the republican platform of 1880; commend congress for its action in the contested seats before it as "in vindication of an honest ballot and fair count;" characterize the administration of President Arthur as "worthy of all respect and commendation;" favor creation of a department of industry; ask prompt measures to protect western cattle from contagious diseases; favor equitable revision of the tariff; favor legislation to control inter-state commerce and pooling arrangements between parallel and competing railroad lines, and advocate renewed efforts looking to practical and judicious improvement of natural water ways. Adjourned.

Ohio Politics.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 3.—It is becoming quite apparent in Ohio that the sale of the democratic party, recently made by John C. Thompson to the liquor dealers, will not meet with the approval of a large number of the better element of the Buckeye democracy. Letters received here state that many democrats refuse thus to be sold, and that they do not promise to play second fiddle to the liquor dealers' association. The issue in the coming struggle is one between law and order on one side, and free whisky, free beer, and no Sunday on the other. People of the state feel the time has arrived when this question must be settled, whether liquor dealers should pay a just proportion of taxes, or whether other and legitimate enterprises should be taxed with a view of putting money into the pockets of brewers and protecting this business, and caring for its victims in county and state institutions.

Georgia Republicans.

ATLANTA, August 3.—The state republican convention met to-day, 150 delegates being present. About 100 having gone to another convention headed by the executive committee and white republicans known as the Georgia syndicate, among them being Gen. Longstreet and Col. H. P. Farrows. Nothing of consequence was done beyond appointment of committees. Pledger was arrested at the instigation of the opposition ten minutes before time to call the convention to order on account of a row last night and gave bonds for his appearance. The convention will meet again to-morrow.

Indiana Democrats.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 2.—The Indiana state democratic convention met this morning. Chairman W. H. English said he was not a candidate for re-election or for any other office. He expressed hope for harmony, and the best men to be nominated. Jno. R. Coffroth was made permanent chairman, and ex-Gov. Hendricks submitted the platform which was adopted under previous question. It contains a strong arraignment of the republican party for corruption, usurpation, dishonest violation of constitution, frauds, perjury in 1876, and other sins, and calls upon the voters of Indiana to wipe out the stains of Dorseyism in 1880. It demands reduction of taxes to the lowest possible point and necessary civil service reforms, and denounces the republican administration for neglect of duty toward imprisoned American citizens abroad. Other planks are the same as usual in like documents. A very strong presentment is, however, made against prohibition, but desire is expressed to have the question voted on at the general election. A committee of temperance ladies presented a memorial which was referred to the committee on resolutions. The convention nominated for secretary of state, W. R. Myers.

Indiana Nominations.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 3.—The democratic convention this afternoon made the following additional nominations, after which the convention adjourned: Attorney general, Francis E. Hord, of Bartholomew county; clerk of supreme court, Simon P. Sheren, of Cass county; superintendent of public instruction, John W. Holcomb, of Porter county. Judges of the supreme court—1st judicial district, Hon. H. E. L. Niblack, of Knox county; 2d, Judge G. W. Hawk, of Floyd county; 4th, Judge Allan Zoller, of Allen Co.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 3.—For auditor of state, Jas. H. Rice of Floyd county, and treasurer of state, J. J. Cooper, of Marion county, were nominated by the democratic convention.

South Carolina Democrats.

COLUMBIA, Aug. 3.—The platform declares in favor of just legislation, economy in the government, popular education, declaring the appointing power under republican rule a standing menace to the people of the states, declaring against packing juries in political cases, holding that the federal government should assist southern states to cure the evil of non-intelligent suffrage resulting from war, favors civil service reform, asks increase of duties on imports, abolition of revenue taxation as soon as possible, and demands the maintenance of public credit.

Congressional Nominations.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 3.—Democrats of the Fifth district, nominated Alex. Graves for congress to-day.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Aug. 3.—Republicans of the Eighth district have nominated W. T. Price for congress.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 3.—The democrats of the 2d congressional district of Mississippi at Oxford, to-day nominated Van H. Manning.

SIOUX CITY, Aug. 3.—The republican congressional committee of eleventh district on the 90th ballot nominated Isaac Struble.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Aug. 3.—Greenbackers of the new ninth congressional district have nominated for congress Dr. J. B Hatton, of Montgomery county, a farmer and democrat.

RALEIGH, N. C., August 3.—The republican convention of the fourth district endorsed the candidacy of Thomas P. Devereaux, independent, for congress. The delegates from two counties bolted, and supported B. Cozart, and J. R. Strayhorn, old time republicans.

JACKSON, Va., August 3.—J. J. Finlay was nominated for congress by democrats of the second district.

A Doubt Expressed.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 3. Success of the democratic ticket will be in great doubt if republicans give their usual majorities for county officers to-day. There is much scratching.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 3.—The people's anti-republican county ticket, is likely to carry to-day, though republicans usually have 800 majority.

Ohio Prohibitionists.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 3.—The prohibition state convention has an unusually large attendance. Various committees were appointed and recess taken.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA

San Francisco Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—Thomas Turner, second mate of the ship Yorktown, was held to answer before the United States grand jury yesterday, on a charge of beating and wounding a seaman named Joseph Peterson, on board that vessel during its recent voyage from New York.

In police court number one, yesterday afternoon, re-examination of Joshua Hamblin for murder of a fellow gambler, by the name of Massey, took place. Hamblin was again held to answer before the supreme court.

The departure of the British steamer Anjer Head yesterday was witnessed by an immense crowd of persons, most of whom were attracted to the dock by mere curiosity to see the vessel of which during her stay in port has been the subject of such widespread newspaper notoriety. In honor of the event Capt. Roper had the deck of his steamer profusely decorated with bunting, while from the head of the mainmast floated the stars and stripes.

Shipping Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Word has been received that the ship Wilna, bound from New York to Portland, Oregon, has met with an accident by collision, the time, place and extent of damages to that ship known. The Wilna, previous to this accident, had just come out of St. Thomas, where she had gone for repairs.

The steamer Oceanic is due on the 9th inst. She will be the first steamer to arrive after operation of the Chinese restriction bill, and will probably have the smallest number of passengers she has carried for a long time.

ARIZONA.

Row with Cow Boys.

TUCSON, Aug. 3.—A Star special from Phenix, Aug. 2, says a fight took place in this town this afternoon between three presumable cow boys and officers assisted by citizens. All three cow boys were captured, one killed and one badly wounded. No one else was hurt. As the prisoners were being taken to jail an attempt was made to lynch them. They were pushed under a tree and loud calls were made for rope, but officers with a posse came to the rescue and removed them to jail.

NEVADA.

A Drunken Row Ends Fatally.

RENO, Aug. 3.—Wm. Adams and Frank R. Agnue had a difficulty 12 miles north of here last night, while coming to town in a wagon. In the row Adams threw Agnue out and drove off. Agnue was found dead in the road about an hour after, with his neck dislocated, a gash under his left ear two inches deep, and a cut in his upper lip. Adams was arrested, charged with murder. He was too drunk when arrested to give any intelligent account of how it occurred.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Seattle Notes.

SEATTLE, August 3.—W. H. White, a lawyer, and Charles Kiel, a restaurant-keeper, had a quarrel here last evening over the possession of a suite of rooms claimed by Kiel and also by a client of White's. From words they got to blows and a very nearly even fight was suddenly ended by Kiel drawing and discharging a revolver. Kiel claims that he did this with no intention of shooting White, but the latter, all the same, made complaint against him of assault with a deadly weapon, with intent to kill. The investigation ended to-day in Kiel being bound over in the sum of $1000 to answer to the charge at the next term of the district court.

The Evangel started this evening from Wrangel and Sitka, carrying the mails, but no freight nor passengers.

SEATTLE, August 3.—Ten vessels took cargoes of lumber from Puget Sound sawmills to foreign ports during the month of July, the aggregate of which comprised 186 spars, 58,000 pickets, 175,000 shingles, 440,000 laths and 6,040,000 feet of lumber, in all valued at about $900,000. One of the vessels was a British steamship, the Glamis Castle, the first steamer to take anything approaching a cargo of lumber from one of our mills.

Capt. J. C. Brittain has sold the Seattle and Sehome mail contract to the Washington Navigation Co., who will put the City of Quincy on the route at once.

The Alaska Mails Withheld.

PORT TOWNSEND, Aug. 3.—This morning the Alaska mail contractors applied at the postoffice for mails, intending to use the steamer Evangel to carry them to Alaska. The local inspector having decided that the steamer was unfit for the route the mail was refused them by the postmaster, acting under instructions from Washington. It is reported that the contractors are endeavoring to obtain a suitable boat to make the trip, but so far have not succeeded.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Victoria Items.

VICTORIA, Aug. 3.—The funeral of the late Capt. Raymur was numerously attended yesterday.

The condition of the Cariboo wagon road is described by those who have passed over it recently, as of the most disgraceful and unsatisfactory character. Very few men are at work repairing it and no goods can be freighted over it for the upper country, where business is at a standstill in consequence of the scarcity of supplies of every description. All along the road are seen chains, ox-bows, and other paraphernalia of the freighters, lying just where they were abandoned. The mail stage manages to get through with great care and difficulty, but it is said that no freight will pass over the road for at least three weeks to come. Supplies in the interior are consequently scarce and high.

Steamship Barnard Castle passed yesterday for San Francisco.

Steamship Davonshire, loading for China, will be down Friday.

Ship Kate Davenport is discharging her China cargo.

It is reported on good authority that an agent who represents the Chinese colony has started for the northwest coast of the island to take up land with a view to settling there a large body of celestials. The idea is to survey and buy crown lands on the west coast for agricultural purposes and to bring out whole families from China to people them. The act of the session is not restrictive as to Chinese.

Rev. Dr. Cochrane, moderator of the United Presbyterian church of Canada, lectured last evening, urging the union of all Presbyterian bodies.

THURSDAY, Aug. 3.

There are no new developments in the wheat market. There are threatenings of rain, but it is to be hoped that the clouds will blow over, as rain now would do much harm to the harvest progressing and in no way benefit spring wheat which is not yet ripe. A little valley wheat of the new crop has reached the market here during the week, but the movement will be very light for two or three weeks yet. So far as we can learn, the yield is every where better than anticipated.

We have been shown telegrams to parties in the trade which for the last four days name 47s per quarter of 500 pounds, as the value of an iron cargo of valley wheat for prompt shipment to the United Kingdom. On the basis of 65s for freight with exchange at 49⅞d and insurance at usual rates, this will net $1 52 per cental free on board ship at Portland. So far as we are able to judge from canvassing the buyers here, the opening price will be about $1 55 per cental; but values may be stimulated a little in some localities where millers will desire to stock up.

The Millers' National Association in a recent canvass of the crops of the west, sum up as follows: "A careful perusal of the foregoing will confirm the opinion that the crop of 1882 will prove an exceptional one in quality and quantity. In fact, the outlook indicates the largest wheat crop ever raised in the United States." This conclusion is arrived at taking into the count that California will produce only half a crop and Oregon a three-fourths crop. In these estimates they have erred, as the California crop is full two-thirds and the Columbia river output will not be an eighth less than the season previous.

We have as yet no reliable data of the condition or quality of the European crops, but the general impression is that they are nowhere so poor as last season. The weather from this time on will be a very important factor in fixing the amount of product, as rains are greatly to be feared and are often very disastrous to the unhoused grain in the old countries.

BAGS.

The demand for bags has slackened very much in the past week, and it is presumed that a large percentage of the wants of the trade has been met. The current quotation remains at 10½ 11c on usual time.

MARK LANE REPORT.

LONDON, Monday, July 31.

The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the English trade for the last week, says: "The weather has been unfavorable until the close of last week. Hardly any home grown wheat was offered. What remains is two shillings per quarter higher than former. Trade in foreign checked by finer weather, and reports of declining prices in America. There were some occasional concessions to buyers. Flour dull, but comparatively steady. Oats declined because of large arrivals off the coast. Trade quiet. There were four fresh arrivals, and five sales and four cargoes withdrawn. Wheat on passage closed with downward tendency. Sales of English wheat during the week, 10,232 quarters, at 50s per quarter against 13,260 quarters at 47s for the corresponding week last year.

WOOL.

There is no change in wool since last week. The truth is that but little Willamette valley wool has been sold in this market this season, most of it has been bought up in the little railroad towns and shipped to San Francisco or the east. The Boston wool market is reported by telegraph as follows:

BOSTON, Aug. 2. The wool market is steady with desirable grades firm; demand good. Ohio fleeces have been selling at [illegible] for X and XX. Michigan X fleece in fair demand at [illegible]. Eastern Freight Situation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The freight market via Cape Horn still presents a fair degree of activity, and the outlook for good fall trade is more promising than could be anticipated thirty days ago. The Oracle finished loading this afternoon, and the Dakota will fill early next week. Rates are somewhat firmer under scarcity of tonnage, but quotably higher. Tonnage is in light supply and wanted in most directions except the Pacific Coast. The ship Charger, hence May 10th, and returned on fire, has again sailed with nearly the same cargo. The withdrawals include 500 cases oil, 50 barrels whisky, 150 bales oakum, 1642 packages iron, 700 bundles sheet iron, 30 barrels sugar, and also a quantity of other merchandise. It is a noticeable fact that the last Pacific mail steamer from this port had but little freight for China, and no domestics, of which they heretofore have had large quantities. Inquiring into the cause of this elicits the information that the contract between railroads and steamers includes all freight to San Francisco and beyond, and that in view of the trouble in Egypt and increase in risk via Suez canal, railroad companies have concluded that shippers ought to pay higher rates of freight, and therefore propose this class of freight shall go forward by rail at the minimum rate of $15 per ton, instead of $18 per steamer. Whether shippers will submit to this extortion remains to be seen.

The Hog Market in Chicago

The Anglo-American Packing and Provision Company have suspended killing hogs, and its 3000 men are thereby out of employment. The scarcity and high price of corn has sent that cereal to market instead of into hogs of grass will not make good packing hogs for the foreign trade. In any event, Mr. Fowler, the senior in the business, says Irish and German markets can undersell him now. Other establishments are running very light. A good corn crop would bring great relief.
